

Authors

Mario Giampaolo, Ph.D. is Assistant Professor in the Department of Educational Sciences at University of Siena. His research focuses are related to adult education, competence based education and informal learning technologies. He works as researcher in many European Erasmus Project and he is member of Italian society of Education. He is the author of essays and articles, among which the most significant is: “How to personalize learning” (Pensa Multimedia).

Alessandra Romano, Ph.D. is Researcher in the Department of Education at University of Siena. Her research is focused on practices and methods for professional community development. She teaches ‘Diversity Management’ and ‘Theory and method of inclusive education’ at University of Siena. Her current research uses qualitative research methods for promoting professional identity development and effective collaboration for learning and performance in workplaces. She has a particular strand of research on experience-based methods, such as art-based and performative methodologies.

Paolo Vittoria currently teaches Popular Education at Federico II University of Naples. From 2009 to 2017 he was professor of Philosophy of Education at Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. PhD in Educational and Psychological Sciences by Federico II University of Naples, post-doctorate in Educational Policies by Federal Fluminense University of Rio de Janeiro. He is member of several editorial boards of academic journals and Chief Director of “Educazione Aperta. Rivista di Pedagogia Critica”. Author of books and articles published in many languages.

Irvin Luca Vairetti, musician and educator. PhD in Psychological and Pedagogical Sciences at Federico II University of Naples. Master in MusicArTherapy in Globality of Languages at University of Tor Vergata,

Educational Reflective Practices (ISSN 2240-7758, ISSN 2279-9605), 2/2019

DOI: 10.3280/ERP2019-002012

Copyright © FrancoAngeli

N.B: Copia ad uso personale. È vietata la riproduzione (totale o parziale) dell'opera con qualsiasi mezzo effettuata e la sua messa a disposizione di terzi, sia in forma gratuita sia a pagamento.

Rome. Currently teaches “Didactic Methodologies of audiovisual languages” at Accademia di Belle Arti of Naples. Lecturer in recent years, in courses of teacher training at University of Naples Federico II. Educator in Music and Didactics of History at educational association Maestri di Strada. Author of several academic articles and book chapters.

Daniela Manno is Research Fellow of Didactics and Special Education at SuorOrsola Benincasa University (Naples-Italy) where she carries out her research activities on inclusive education and teaches courses for prospective teachers and educators.

Antonella Pugliese I graduated in Physics from Insubria University in March 2019, with a master thesis about students’ misconceptions in Science. Since 2015 I’ve been collaborating with the INSULAB group, engaging in scientific dissemination events and organizing several didactics activities.

Chiara Novati is researcher at the Insubria University, developing data analysis to estimate the drop-out level in the Como Province. I also work in scientific dissemination projects, implementing laboratories for students and for teachers, to improve their approach in teaching Science.

Michela Prest is full professor at the Insubria University, delegate of the Dean for communication, outreach and fundraising. I am a particle physicist who develops detectors for particle, medical and space physics. I have a deep interest in scientific outreach and education and I organize scientific labs for all ages.

Erik Vallazza is Senior Researcher at the Milano Bicocca Section of INFN (Italian National Institute for Nuclear Physics). I develop and deploy detection systems for Particle Physics, Medical Physics and Space Physics. I have been involved in outreach and science communication since the last 15 years.

Carlo Orefice, PHD in Anthropological Sciences, is Associate Professor of General and Social Pedagogy at the “Department of Education, Humanities and Intercultural Communication” of University of Siena. His current research and teaching activities are focused on Adult Education and Pedagogy of care, with special emphasis on anthropologies of the body and experiences of illness. For the same Department, he is Delegate for the Inclusion and Disability and Chairman of the Master’s Degree Course in “Scienze per la formazione e la consulenza pedagogica nelle organizzazioni” (LM-85). He was Teacher within the Lifelong Learning Programme at the Universitat Pompeu Fabra (Barcelona, Spain), and Visiting Researcher at the Universidad Autónoma de Coahuila (Saltillo, Mexico), Universidad Rovira i Virgili - Medical Anthropology Research Center (Tarragona, Spain) and Universidad de Salamanca (Spain). He is Adjunct Professor at the UNESCO Transdisciplinary Chair in “Human Development and Culture of Peace” - University of Florence.

Francesca Bianchi Ph.D., is Associate professor in Sociology at the University of Siena. She has taken part in several studies and researches concerning social and cultural transformations, continuing vocational training and guidance (with ISFOL Rome, Carlo Cattaneo Institute of Bologna, MTI of Boston). She has been involved, as Italian expert in social and education fields, in the European network COST 13 Working group n.4 “Youth employment/unemployment”, Action Changing labour market, welfare policies and citizenship. In recent years she has been particularly studying the social interaction and the new forms of sociality and participation in everyday life, continuing vocational training taking part to several international conferences organized by ESPAnet, National Agency Training for Europe, Forschungsinstitut für Bildungs und Sozialökonomie Institute for Education and Socio-Economic Research and Consulting (FiBS) of Köln and Berlin, European Network for Housing Research. In 2015 she was visiting researcher in Tours, “Cités, TERritoires, Environnement et Sociétés” Unité de Recherche CITERES, François Rabelais University, Tours and in 2018 visiting professor in Paris Nanterre, Centre de Recherche sur l’Habitat (CRH), Laboratoire LAVUE. She published several books and articles on national and international reviews.

Marco Betti is Research fellow of Sociology at University of Siena, Department of Education, human sciences and intercultural communication. His research focuses on industrial relations, corporate governance and local development. Among his recent publications there is ‘Fondi pensione negoziali e sviluppo locale: prospettive evolutive degli investimenti a sostegno dell’economia reale. Il caso di Solidarietà Veneto’, Autonomie locali e servizi sociali (2019).

Antonio Borgogni, PhD, Assistant Professor at the University of Bergamo (IT), Department of Human and Social Sciences. My main research topics are active cities and participatory planning of public spaces, children’s autonomy, play, and rights in sport.

Monja Taraschi is a Ph.D student in “Sugli ambiti di interazione e integrazione tra le scienze umane e le tecnologie avanzate” at the University of Suor Orsola Benincasa – (Naples, Italy). She has been a research fellow in Pedagogy of Deviance at the Faculty of Education of the University of Suor Orsola Benincasa of Naples. She has lectured at the Interuniversity Campana School of Specialization in Teaching (SICSI), in master of first and second level and in university specialization courses. Her research interests are focused on pedagogical issues related to deviance and social marginalization. She is author of a monograph and various publications.

Carlo Terzaroli is a Ph.D. Student at the Department of Education and Psychology at the University of Florence. He currently has a fellowship in the Platform Orientation and Job Placement in which is involved in training activities for developing employability and entrepreneurial skills. His research interests are focused on the Career Service models – at National and International level – with a specific focus on the services for the development of the entrepreneurship career.

Stefano Gonnella is researcher (Theoretical Philosophy) at the University of Siena. His main research interests include Phenomenology; Contemporary Philosophy; Philosophy for/with Children. He is currently concerned with the practice of applied phenomenology in the field of cultural anthropology. He teaches Didactics of Philosophy for the Graduate Degree Courses at the Department of Education, Human Sciences and Intercultural Communication.