

About the authors

Sebastiano Bagnara is dean of the Faculty of Psychology at International Telematic University Uninettuno. He was chair of Cognitive Psychology at the Department of Architecture, Design and Urban Planning at the University of Sassari; chair of Cognitive Ergonomics and Psychology at Department of Design at the Politecnico di Milano; head and founder of the Department of Communication Sciences at the University of Siena, director of the Institute of Psychology of the National Research Council; general secretary of International Ergonomics Association.

E-mail: sebastiano.bagnara@gmail.com

Emilio Bartezzaghi is professor emeritus of Organizational Systems at the School of Management of Politecnico di Milano. His research interests concern the fields of innovation and change management; interactions between digitalization and organizational and managerial innovations; methods and models for organization and process re-design. He served as director of the Department of Management, Economics and Industrial Engineering of the Politecnico di Milano and as President of the MIP Graduate School of Business. He was President of AiIG (Italian Association of Management Engineering).

E-mail: emilio.bartezzaghi@polimi.it

Marco Bentivogli was general secretary of the Italian Metalworkers Federation CISL for years up to june 2020. He has followed all the biggest industrial transformations and agreements in recent years, for instance in Ilva, Whirlpool, Alcoa, FCA. Member of Executive Committee of Industrial Europe Union and Global Union, since 2018. Author of many research papers and publications in the field of technological innovations and Artificial Intelligence. Member of the Group of Experts on Artificial Intelligence for a National Strategy set by the MISE (Italian Ministry of Economic Development). He is also Member of Advisory Board of Digital Italy.

E-mail: marco.bentivogli@cisl.it

Studi organizzativi - Special Issue 2020 - Issn 0391-8769, Issn-e 1972-4969

DOI: 10.3280/SO2020-001-S1021